“ My heart hurts . You are the light that made our family bright, you are the sound that made Angels sing. So many memories I have yet seems I wish they were more. Your smile will forever give us a smile when we think of you, your dancing to Taylor singing will forever be etched in our hearts , your smile when you would hear Ty laugh, your laughter when your mom & dad would pick on you, your running in place to run to maw maw & paw Paw's house. Your grunts & shaking your head no when I would say I'm gonna kiss you. Then your laughter when I would . You are forever loved

“ Oh Tristen, how you took my heart from day one. You had a smile that lit up my world. The voice of an angel. One of my favorite memories is when mom played inch worm across your stomach and you rocked and laughed. I couldn't quit laughing. You were so stinkin happy everytime! Or when out of dead silent or the most noise in the world was goin on and you heard dads voice you grinned. I loved picking you up and putting you on my knee and bounced you around and making the most noise. You laughed so hard you had to catch your breath. I remember when jed and you sat on the recliner and you both rocked back and fourth. You both smiled so big. I have so many memories with you and of you. You are an unforgettable little boy without a doubt. You have the best mom and dad. The greatest brothers to. I will forever keep you in my heart till the end of time. Every moment we had together was my favorite moments.

A joy he was to watch growing, to hear his laughter, to see his smiles & his always hand movement, "again , again"!! Mawmaw & Pawpaw will now be the ones to "run, run" to Tristen's house!! Love you forever, Lil' Man

“ My favorite memory is the time i sat on the floor with Shelia and Taylor and they sang “chug-a-lug” while everytime there was a beat, id hit the bed hard and tris would let out this giggle that was contagious. Ever been around someone with a contagious laugh? It makes your chest fuzzy and you laugh harder? That was ALWAYS his giggles. Beautiful and definitely contagious.
